

Mind magic.

Director: Christopher Nolan

Starring: Leonardo DiCaprio, Joseph Gordon-Levitt, Ellen Page

Dom Cobb (DiCaprio) is not your average thief. Rather than stealing possessions, Cobb seeks a different and far more valuable kind of loot – your deepest secrets from your subconscious mind while you dream.

His rare ability has made him a successful – and highly sought – player in the treacherous world of corporate espionage. But his skill has also made him a fugitive and cost him everything – and everyone – he’s ever cared for. One last job could be his redemption; but as he and a team of experts work on constructing the perfect crime – planting rather than stealing an idea – a dangerous enemy who seemingly predicts their every move, an enemy only Cobb could have seen coming, could destroy everything.

It's a dark and twisted sci-fi thriller that sees DiCaprio back in another scorching lead role; with a fantastically thorough and superbly sharp plot, the devilishly complex and emotion-wrought film packs some serious punch; Nolan surely outdoes himself once again with a simply brilliant and original creation. Outstanding.
