

A sea turtle born in 1959 spends the next fifty years swimming his way around the world, encountering the many effects of global warming along the way. An endearing story with subtle educational messages for younger generations, it's a heart-warming story led by morals and 3D effects to keep it fun.

