

Sarah Jessica Parker plays Kate Reddy – a successful businesswoman, wife and mother of two young kids trying to balance everything

That's it really, in a nutshell. This movie does what it says on the tin – unfortunately it isn't really an exploration of the modern woman's dilemma of work v family; it couldn't be with SJP in the lead role. It's more of an amusing bit of fluff that will likely irritate anyone who thinks too much about it.
